

Mid Atlantic AREA SALES MANAGER (ASM)

Company Overview:

Prytime Medical Devices, Inc. (The REBOA Company™) is an innovative medical device company that designs, develops, and commercializes minimally invasive solutions for hemorrhage control. Our flagship product is the ER-REBOA™ Catheter. The recent commercialization of this device has created an overwhelming interest in the marketplace. As such, Prytime Medical is seeking an experienced medical device sales professional to assist in the expansion of this market.

Job Summary:

The Mid Atlantic Area Sales Manager (ASM) will be based in Philadelphia, PA, Baltimore, MD or Charlotte, NC, and will be responsible for leading the company sales strategy and sales activities within a defined territory (North Carolina, Virginia, Maryland, Delaware and parts of New Jersey and Pennsylvania) by driving the appropriate development activities and executing the strategic business plan that lead to the attainment of the territory and company objectives. The ASM is in the field, engaging customers to develop and foster long-term relationships that expand and secure the company customer base. The ASM is responsible for the identification of opportunities, attainment of sales objectives and operational activities on a daily basis to deliver and exceed results. The ASM is also responsible for measuring, monitoring and trending sales performance and intervenes to ensure successful achievement of business results pertaining to quota achievement, physician training and education as well as expense management.

Essential Job Requirements:

- Assist in the development, implementation, and monitoring of strategic sales initiatives
- Direct tactical plans to achieve business objectives
- Drive sales planning and execution initiatives to include the following: accurate forecasting and quota achievement; identification of key opportunities, market trends, competitor activity, and key accounts for strategic initiatives
- Contribute to the performance of the company sales team and be accountable for goal attainment, time management, professional conduct, independent development, effective expense management and accurate reporting
- Develop professional and sales relationships by actively engaging with physicians, key customers and accounts
- Manage and optimize the proper utilization of company assets and business development programs
- Research, develop and maintain long and short-range sales and marketing plans
- Demonstrate leadership, accountability and influence that contributes to the mission and culture of the organization

Desired Skills and Experience:

- Bachelor's degree required, no exceptions
- 5+ years of medical device sales experience with a strong preference to vascular, endovascular and/or vascular trauma
- Experience selling physician preference items, developing markets, creating clinical pathways and driving standard of care changes with revolutionary technologies
- Experience navigating the complexities of the current healthcare environment to include the following: calling on the healthcare supply chain leadership; building relationships with senior level executives and key department heads
- Excellent oral and written communication skills including formal presentations to large groups
- Demonstrated ability to prioritize activities to accomplish stated sales objectives
- Experience managing large geographies and coordinating efforts towards maximum efficiencies
- Ability to travel extensively throughout the assigned territory